

UCI Health

UCI Health Medical Center only accepts BLS, ACLS, and PALS certifications that have the American Heart Association logo in the corner indicating the class is up to the AHA's standards. (Please see the approved cards below.)

There are no exceptions. If your new role requires any of these certifications, please be advised that you must present an active card displaying the AHA logo no later than your first day of employment. Please be sure to present both the front and back of the card and include your signature on the back side as well.

If you are in need of a new BLS, ACLS, or PALS certification, please feel free to refer to our list of recommended off-site AHA classes. Once you are an employee with UCI Health, you will be eligible to renew your certifications through UCI Health.
